

Florida International University | Department Of Environmental Health & Safety | ehs@fiu.edu

February is a month filled with heart and that means showing a little extra love to the safety practices that protect the FIU community every day. As we settle into a new month, we are excited to bring you new learning opportunities and chances to engage, learn, and win when it comes to safety. From national celebrations highlighting the importance of lab safety to growing your skills through micro-credentials, this edition is all about caring for yourself, your fellow Panthers, and the spaces where we work and learn. Think of it as a warm nudge to stay aware, stay proactive, and stay connected.

In this Month's Newsletter

- ♥ Heads up for February. Let's keep up the momentum for establishing proactive habits that keep every work and learning space safe.
- 🏆 Ruben Bermudez and the Facilities LSUS Team is February's EH&S Safety Shout Out. Congratulations! Nominate someone/a group for an EH&S' Safety Shout Out by visiting <https://ehs.fiu.edu>. Check out the past EH&S Safety Shout Outs here.
- 🏠 Lab Safety Awareness Week, February 9-13 🏠 Join EH&S in celebrating CSHEMA Lab Safety Awareness Week. Learn, engage, play, and win! For more information, check the EH&S Announcements page.
- 📖 EH&S Micro-credential Course: Fundamentals of Lab Safety 📖 Ready to grow your skills and credentials? Want to be recognized for your knowledge of lab safety and compliance? Enroll in Fundamentals of Lab Safety today! For more information, check the EH&S Announcements page.
- 🚧 General Safety Talk 101: Forklifts 🚧 Welcome to the first EH&S General Safety Talk 101! This month we discuss the serious hazards associated with operating and working around forklifts. Check out the essential safety tips to keep you and others safe.

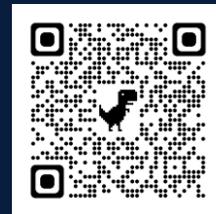

Scan The QR code with your phone!

Full February 2026 Newsletter

Send us an email

Report a Concern

